

Free Farm Feed sends out daily messages all year long at noon. Warning messages will be sent out from May to August.

How to join Freefarmfeed:

1. Go to www.freefarmfeed.org
2. If you have a twitter username, input it into the form, this will also serve as your freefarm feed username. If you do not have a twitter username, sign up for free at twitter.com
3. Choose a personal password
4. Type in the US zipcode or European post code, or a city and state or country of the location you would like to receive stations tweets from. In addition to the US, freefarmfeed currently supports France, Germany, Spain, and Great Britain with others soon to come.
5. If desired, click the box to receive direct messages from the stations on your cell phone
6. Click submit. Freefarmfeed will then register your username to receive tweets from the active weather station located nearest to the city or zipcode/postcode. If a failure occurs, a description of the error will be shown along with a link to resubmit.

How to view and add/remove stations:

1. Go to www.freefarmfeed.org
2. Type in your username and password and click login
3. A page will then load showing your current stations with a form to add another station if desired as well as an option to remove a currently registered station.
4. To add another station, fill in the zipcode/postcode or city and state/country and click submit
5. Registration is currently limited to 5 stations. If you are already registered for five stations, a page will appear listing your stations and asking if you want to replace one. Choose a station to replace or click cancel.
6. If you choose to replace a station, your account page will reappear with your new station list.
7. To remove a station use the radio buttons above each station table, select one and click submit.
8. A page will appear showing that the station was successfully removed, click on return to login to return to your account page.
